NEW QUESTION: 1

Which of the following fire suppression systems is MOST likely used in a datacenter?

- A. Wet-pipe
- B. Vacuum
- C. FM-200
- D. Dry-pipe

Answer: C

Explanation:

FM200 is a gas and the principle of a gas system is that it displaces the oxygen in the room, thereby removing this essential component of a fire. In a data center it is the preferred choice of fire suppressant.

Incorrect Answers:

B. Dry-pipe fire suppression is not the optimal fire suppressant to be used.

C. Wet-pipe fire suppression will douse a fire, but will also cause extensive damage to electrical equipment.

D. A vacuum suppression will also result in more damage to components in the area of the vacuum, whereas a gas system will just starve the fire of oxygen which is more preferable in a data center to use as a fire suppressant.
