The database is currently 6TB in size and is growing. The company wants to use a storage class that is cost-effective and has a high degree of durability. Which storage class should the company use?

- A. Amazon RDS MySQL
- B. Amazon S3 Standard
- C. Amazon DynamoDB
- D. Amazon S3 Glacier

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 2

Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. The domain contains two servers named Server1 and Server2 that run Windows Server 2016. The servers have the same hardware configuration.

You need to asynchronously replicate volume F: from Server1 to Server2.

What should you do?

- A. Install the Failover Clustering feature and create a new cluster resource group.
- B. Install the Failover Clustering feature and use Cluster Shared Volumes (CSV).
- C. Run New-SRPartnership and specify the -ReplicationMode parameter.
- D. Run Set-DfsrServiceConfiguration and specify the -RPCPort parameter.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation:

-ReplicationMode

Specifies the desired mode of replication for this source and destination pair. The acceptable values for this parameter are: Synchronous or 1. The synchronous mode requires all writes to commit on the destination server and on the source server, which guarantees data integrity between computers.

Asynchronous or 2. The asynchronous mode writes to the source server without waiting for the destination server, which allows for replication over high latency, geographic networks. The default value is synchronous. The default asynchronous recovery point alert time is 5 minutes. You can modify it by using the SetSRPartnership cmdlet. The alert time has no effect on replication behavior, only on reporting.
